ADDITIONAL PLAYERS IN FINALS SERIES

When using extra player(s) in the mixed finals, fill in the scorecard BEFORE the match starts and make your opposition aware of your intention of using extra player(s). Play your mixed sets in proper order so no confusion arises when the extra player(s) take part in the mixed doubles sets. PLEASE NOTE: If the players play in the incorrect position, your team will lose the associated sets - and perhaps the match.

➤ The basic rules for the Mixed format are:

3 men in the team

- No. 1 male player (1M) plays 4 sets.
- No. 2 male player (2M) plays 2 mens doubles sets.
- No. 3 male player (3M) plays 2 mixed doubles sets, basically replacing the no. 2 male player (2M) for the remainder of the match.

3 women in the team

- No. 1 female player (1W) plays 4 sets.
- No. 2 female player (2W) plays 2 womens doubles sets.
- No. 3 female player (3W) plays 2 mixed doubles sets, basically replacing the no. 2 female player (2W) for the remainder of the match.

For example, if one team uses an extra male player and an extra female player, the sets played would be as follows:

No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player	vs	No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player
No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player	vs	No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player
No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player	vs	No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player
No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player	vs	No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player

No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player	vs	No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player
No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player	vs	No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player
No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player	vs	No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player
No. 1 male player & No. 1 female player	vs	No. 1 male player & No. 1 female player
No. 3 male player & No. 3 female player	vs	No. 3 male player & No. 3 female player
No. 1 male player & No. 1 female player	vs	No. 3 male player & No. 3 female player
No. 3 male player & No. 3 female player	vs	No. 1 male player & No. 1 female player

Another example, if mixed pairs are switched is:

No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player	vs	No. 1 male player & No. 2 male player
No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player	vs	No. 1 female player & No. 2 female player

No. 3 male player & No. 3 female player	vs	No. 1 male player & No. 3 female player

Play your sets in proper order to avoid confusion. PLEASE NOTE: If the players play in the incorrect position, your team will lose the associated sets - and perhaps the match.

➤ The basic rules for the Pennant format are:

3 players in the team

- No. 1 player plays 2 sets, excluding the doubles set
- No. 2 player plays 2 sets, excluding the first singles set (2 vs 2)
